What should i do? It occurs after few days if i'm using the internet. Also, i've recently changed my dell laptop. I have a win7 Ultimate 64-bit Pro with an intel graphics that i'm using, I can't understand why my system is so slow now. A: Here's how to solve it by removing Malwarebytes and all the other browser addons you have and adding only your favsafe or antimalware as I do in my systems. How to remove/uninstall/disable programs: Select your game when in start screen. Right click and press on uninstall The program should appear in the list at the right side if your games are.msi extensions. To remove all other addons right click on window menu and then on settings (or options) (french "configurer"). Then on 2nd tab "advanced" (french "avancements") On the bottom of the window there is a button "l'extensions à supprimer" (english "remove extensions"). Select all and remove them. If you have more than one, select the specific addon you want to remove (french "remplacer") and press the button remove. For 1st time I did this on french version, I don't know if it works like that on english version, but for me that was the only way to remove all the addons. That's how I do it. A: It is pretty clear that the link to your shared "Silly Sansa" directory on your server is broken, as you cannot connect to it. What happens when you enter your IP address, or localhost in a web browser? (probably: it throws an error). You can try to manually access your server files via ftp (assuming you have ftp access available), then download the file or directories in question. This should fix the file. Q: Combining multiple regex into one I have the following problem: I have a list of data that looks like this: Netherlands 1 Spain 2 I want to remove the information from bar and baz so that I have 1 2 The idea is to find all of these instances in my HTML and remove the stuff I don't need. The trouble is the data is coming from another source and is not always in this format. I have 2 solutions that I have been looking into Use Notepad++ regular expression find and replace. Do it by hand in PHP. I have looked into both ways and am leaning towards doing it in php. While neither of the approaches are hard, I would like to know if there is a way of combining them. I would really like to remove this from production code since it is a lot of code to maintain. Any help would be appreciated. A:

The tricky part is that the data could be parsed in any 3e33713323
